Any plans for your summer holidays?!

Summer holidays are coming soon and you do not know yet what to do with all your free time? Or, do you already exactly know what you will do? Maybe you already planned a vacation with your family or your friends? Or are you looking forward to swimming in the ocean, meeting friends for video games, shopping or doing sleepovers?

Maybe you have not yet resolved what exactly you want to do in your summer holidays. To make sure you won't get bored out of your brains, this material provides you with numerous ideas and suggestions for planning nice and adventurous holidays. So much is for sure: there are innumerable options if you are interested in having memorable and wonderful holidays. Thanks to this worksheet, you can make sure this year's holidays will become special – you and your fellow pupils just have to figure it out.

The worksheet provides you with a number of tasks that include games to be played and texts to be read. You and your group will get the opportunity to discuss and present all the results.

M 1: AT THE END OF THE WORLD I WOULDN'T BE WITHOUT...

Task 1) Take a piece of paper and write down 3 different things you would take with you if you had to live on a lonely island at the end of the world. Fold the paper and put it into a container that is handed around in the classroom. Someone picks a note out of the container and reads the content out loud. Guess who wrote the note?

M3: PERFECT SUMMER HOLIDAYS!

TASK 3) Have you ever dreamt of a perfect summer holiday trip? What would you want to do if everything was possible and money was not an issue? Make a plan of your perfect summer holidays and share it with the class!

YOU KNOW HOW!

1. One foot after the other: First, dream of your perfect summer holidays, then write down some notes.
2. Structure rules: After the introductory sentence (see below) comes your main part, which includes reasons for your choice. Please write the main part in first person singular. Use conditional II.
3. The end is in sight! Finish your essay with a few sentences. You could summarize your ideas at the end of your essay and state how much you would love to call the plan into action.
4. Well begun is half done! Chose a catchy title for your essay!

Main part: _____

M4: GREAT-AUNT MILDRED AND THE WASTELAND OF INTERNET ACCESS

Task 4) Most people experienced disastrous or simply awful holidays once before which are worth telling and laughing about. Think up your worst holiday nightmare ever and prepare for telling your anecdote in an entertaining way to the class. The hints below will help you!

HINTS:

Content! What happened and why do you think it was so very terrible?

Structure! In which order do you have to tell the events to make lis-

Effect! Make pauses, check your intonation, choice of words, mim-ic and gestures!

Punch line! How can you make the story sound funny? How can you make your audience get the joke?

M5: HOLIDAY ON AIR CRASH – HOW TO SURVIVE?

Task 5) Your air plane catches fire as you are flying over an American desert. All passengers bale out in the emergency and land safely on desert ground. You are informed the next village is 50 miles off. Day temperatures are about 104° Fahrenheit (40 °C). Before the emergency exit, the things listed below could be rescued.

In groups, discuss which of the things listed below are most valuable to survive. Rank them (1 =most valuable) and remember: no objects can be of the same value (be on the same rank).

After your group discussion, your teacher can provide you with the actual best ranking.
