Vorwort

Liebe Kolleginnen, liebe Kollegen, unsere Schüler für das Lesen zu begeistern, ihre Lesefähigkeit effektiv zu fördern, das ist täglich die große Herausforderung eines jeden Lehrers/Lernbegleiters*.

„Wie erwecke ich die Lust am Lesen?“, „Welche Texte sind geeignet – altersentsprechend und interessant?“

Wir können auf eine Vielzahl methodischer Hilfen wie z.B. auf den Lesefächer, auf den Nussknacker etc. zurückgreifen, um dem Schüler das Erschließen eines Textes zu strukturieren und somit zu vereinfachen.

Es erschließt sich nun mal alles über das Lesen und wir wollen praxisorientiert unterrichten, d.h. die Lernenden „fit für das Leben“ machen.

Dies gilt auch für die Fremdsprachen.

Anhand illustrer Biografien, beeindruckender Menschen verschiedener Sparten und Nationalitäten ist dies nicht nur ein Versuch, sondern die Gewissheit, bei Ihren Schülern Interesse zu wecken an beeindruckenden Lebensläufen diverser Menschen, die eine Vision und ein Ziel vor Augen hatten und dafür Engagement, Freude, Leidenschaft zeigten bzw. zeigen. Menschen mit Vorbildcharakter.

Die 11 Biografien in je 2 Schwierigkeitsstufen mit dazugehörigen Aufgaben zum Text- und Leseverständnis sowie das Finden von Synonymen (Wortschatz) sind eine lehrwerksunabhängige und ideale Ergänzung zu Ihrem Englischunterricht. Sie können ebenso im Nachhilfeunterricht oder beim Lernen zuhause zum Einsatz kommen.

Viel Freude Ihnen und Ihren Schülern beim Entdecken und Staunen der illustren Leben wünschen Ihnen der Kohlverlag und

Prisca Thierfelder

- 1 Hermann Gmeiner was the founder of SOS Children's Villages all over the world. Born in 1919 in Austria, Gmeiner had eight brothers and sisters. His mother died when he was five. He was a talented pupil and won a scholarship to attend grammar school. In 1940, he had to go to World War II as a soldier.
- 5 When he came back, he was a welfare worker and saw the suffering of homeless children and war orphans. His idea was that 'Every child has the right to have a home and to be loved'. He thought of houses with women who give orphans a home. In 1949 the first 'SOS Children's Village' was built in Imst in Austria. Gmeiner stopped his medical studies and built some more homes.

- 10 In 1960, he started to build villages throughout Europe. Three years later, villages worldwide followed. The first non-European village was founded in South Korea. In 2016, there were 567 Children's Villages all over the world, 675 institutions for teenagers, 183 schools and 79 medical centres.
- 15 Hermann Gmeiner died in 1986 and is buried in his first Children's Village in Imst. This was his favourite one. He had received many social prices for his social work, for example the Order of Merit of the Federal Republic of Germany, the Netherland's Peace Prize or the Order of Pope John Paul II.

- 1 Hermann Gmeiner was the founder of SOS Children's Villages all over the world.
- He was born in 1919 in Austria and was the sixth of nine children. His mother died when he was five. Gmeiner was a talented pupil and won a scholarship to attend grammar school. However, in 1940, he had to go to war to Russia as a soldier before finishing school. When he came back from World War II, he passed the high school graduation. He began to work as a welfare worker and saw the suffering of the many homeless children and war orphans. He wanted to give them a home. This was when the idea of the SOS Children's Village was born. Gmeiner took all his pocket money he had (approximately 40 US dollars) and started to print leaflets to inform people about his idea. With the people's donations he then was able to establish the SOS Children's Village Association in 1949. In the same year, the first Children's Village was built in Imst in Austria. Gmeiner was looking for women who would permanently live with the orphans and educate them. He called them 'Mothers for SOS Children's Villages'. From now on, Hermann Gmeiner was so busy that he stopped his medical degree studies. His idea became his life. Some other Children's Villages in Austria followed. The organization started to sell Christmas cards that the orphans had drawn and first published the magazine 'Kinderdorfbote' all over the world.

- In 1960 'SOS Children's Village International' was founded in Strasbourg. This was when they started to build the orphans' homes in other European countries. Three years later, the first non-European SOS Children's Village was erected in South Korea, followed by Vietnam, India, Latin America and Africa. In 2016, there were 567 Children's Villages all over the world, 675 institutions for teenagers, 183 schools and 79 medical centres.
- Hermann Gmeiner was the father of all those homes but he especially loved the Village in Imst, the one he had founded first. Gmeiner always came back to Imst after his journeys. The Village was 'his family' as he didn't have a wife or any children. When he had died from cancer in 1986, he was buried in his Village in Imst.

- 31 During his life, Hermann Gmeiner received many awards for his social commitment including the Order of Merit of the Federal Republic of Germany, the Netherlands' Peace Prize and the Papal Order by Pope John Paul II. He was nominated several times for the Nobel Peace Prize.

One of Gmeiner's famous quotes is: 'Every child has the right to grow up secure and safe. Every child has the right to be loved.'

- 1 Joanne K. Rowling is a British book writer. She is famous for her fantasy books 'Harry Potter'. The adventures of the wizard Harry Potter and his friends Ron and Hermine are known all over the world.
- 2 Joanne K. Rowling was born in 1965 in Yate. That's a town in the southwest of England. Joanne has always loved books. When she was six she invented her first story about an ill rabbit. At school, she loved learning languages but she didn't like maths and sports. She went to university and studied French. When she had finished studies she worked as a bilingual secretary and a researcher for Amnesty International. That's an organization for human rights.
- 3 It was in 1990 when she invented her character Harry Potter. She wanted to write a seven-book-series about witches and wizards. Joanne wrote her first novel about Harry Potter in Portugal where she had lived and married her first husband. It is titled 'Harry Potter and the philosopher's stone'. Joanne wrote the other books from 1997 to 2007. Meanwhile, she had returned to her home country and got married for the second time. Rowling has three children.

- 4 The Harry Potter books are translated into 70 languages. They are the most-sold book series in the world. Harry Potter was filmed and put into a theatre play. Today, Joanne K. Rowling is Britain's 13th wealthiest woman. She has even more money than the Queen. Rowling got many prizes and Queen Elizabeth II made her an OBE (Officer of the order of the British Empire). This is a very special honour. There is a film called 'Magic Beyond Words' about the author's life. It was in 2012 when it was shown on German's TV for the first time.

- Rowling is supporting some social projects, too. She is the founder of 'Volant Charitable Trust'.
 5 That's an organization that collects money for the poor, children, one parent families and multiple sclerosis research.
